15 February 2011 Issue

We know many of you have been waiting to hear about funded places and so we held off sending this newsletter until we knew the outcome of our application for funded places (under Productivity Places Program - PPP) for the first part of 2011.

Although we put in for as many places as we could (60 Existing Worker and 60 Job Seeker), we were not successful in getting any places. We contacted everyone who was on our waitlist to advise them but thought others might want to know as well.

If you have been putting off upgrading your BSZ40198 training qualifications to Certificate IV in Training and Assessment, then now is the time to do it!

AITP is offering this course as a 3 day block (to cover the theory on topics not previously covered in BSZ) on 24, 25 & 28 February. NB. You will also need to submit your portfolio of evidence to meet the requirements of the units of competency you are seeking however you have 3 months to do this.

Don't delay as places are limited to a maximum of 12 persons on each course and are filling fast!

WA has been participating in the harmonisation of occupation health and safety laws. The federal, state and territory government's are working towards the new laws commencing across Australia in 2012. Model Regulations and Codes of Practice have been released by Safe Work Australia for public comment. Worksafe is holding sessions for people to learn more about the proposed regulations and codes and how they will affect you in the workplace.

SkillsDMC is pleased to announce their appointment as a Workplace English Language Literacy (WELL) Broker for another year. The 2010-11 project will have national coverage and focus on employees working in the resources and associated industry areas. The WELL program provides seed funding (up to 75% of training costs) to assist in the delivery of specialist training in workplace communication skills. Training is flexible and can be varied to suit the individual needs of work teams and their leaders.

WELL has previously assisted organisations to:

- enhance efficiency and workplace productivity;
- improve flexibility in adapting to technological change;
- enable staff retention and progression;
- increase compliance with OH&S and safety standards; and
- improve staff confidence and team work
